CAPTAIN FALLON, Author of War Book.

Captain David Fallon, formerly war editor of the New York Herald, is author of a new book on the war, called "The Big Fight."

He went through the entire terrible Gallipoli campaign. He commanded a tank in an amazing war adventure. He has served as an aerial observer, spotted enemy positions and fought enemy aeroplanes.

He has been wounded fifteen times. He was awarded the Military Cross for daring service by his King.

Captain Fallon speaks at our Chautauques on "The Big Fight."

The Chautauqua is the essence of economy. People need and require good entertainment to obtain their composure in these strenuous times. The Government approves and recommends the Chautauqua. This community aligns itself with the Patriotic spirit by having a Chautauqua, which starts MAY 10TH.

IVE ANDERSON PLAYED VIOLIN WHEN AGED THREE

Remarkable in many ways is the Anderson Company which presents one of the finest of the Chautauqua programs. Their chief claim to distinction rests on the fact that they seem to please every person in their large audiences wherever they go. They have the happy faculty of rendering a delightful program in an artistic manner which wins the plaudits of every crowd.

Ive Anderson first played the violin when she was but three and a half years old, at that time being able to play "Jesus Lover of My Soul" in a manner quite remarkable for a child of that age. She played in her home town's orchestra until she finished school and then she took up music under some of the best known artists. Her playing is creating a revelation wherever she goes. Miss Edna Means and Miss Elsie Brady join Miss Anderson in presenting their program which is varied and sparkling.

The same enthusiasm which she displayed in her childhood play, when she broke her ankle playing "Dare," cracked two ribs playing basketball, broke her wrist trying to ride a frisky horse, and had numerous close escapes in automobile accidents and two runaways, Miss Edna Means is displaying in her very successful efforts to please her Chautauqua audiences. Without exception, the comments which were received last season by the Redpath-Horner Lyceum Bureau concerning the work of Edna Means were more enthusiastic and commendatory, than the remarks concerning any other one artist on the road. A genuine treat awaits Chautauqua patrons when Edna Means comes to the city.

THE CHAUTAUQUA OPENS MAY 10

Raphael Emmanuel.

Charles F. Horner, while in Washington recently, had Raphael Emmanuel as his guest one evening. Emmanuel, a native of Mesopotamia, is one of the lecturers on the Chautauqua program this summer and some of the following facts from Mr. Horner's letter concerning the visit with Emmanuel will therefore be particularly interesting.

Emmanuel's father was the high priest of his tribe, which means that he was the highest person in authority. His mother was a princess. His father was the most highly educated man of his people. Emmanuel was the oldest son and as such received the knowledge from his father. This was transmitted to him by word of mouth. They have no books—they write nothing they think and live as did the patriarchs. It stirs one's imagination to think of these people as regarding Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, not as men who lived centuries ago, but as men who lived in the recent past, like perhaps, as we think of Washington, Lincoln and Grant. It should be remembered that in Mesopotamia absolutely no record of time is made.

They have the same religion that the patriarchs had. They are extremely devout—in fact the religion and worship of the true God forms their chief end and purpose of their existence.

They take, as of greatest import, the first five books of the Bible, although they have knowledge of all the other books. Emmanuel says the language that Christ used, when He said the Lord's Prayer and when He cried out on the cross, was his native language.

Emmanuel dressed in his costume as a high born native of Mesopotamia. It was spun linen, because it must be remembered that all their clothes and everything they have are made by hand, as they do not have machinery.

"I think I should describe Raphael Emmanuel as an extremely likable and attractive young man," writes Mr. Horner. "He really has the bearing of a prince, and impresses one with his sincerity."

One day Emmanuel went with his father to Jerusalem. As he passed by the river Jordan he saw a man washing his hands and face in the river and then put on a modern collar and tie. This was the first time Emmanuel had ever seen such things. In fact, he wanted to rush to the rescue of the man, who he thought was choking himself.

In Jerusalem he saw modern things. He saw Europeans and got his first glimpse of the outside world. At that time he had never heard of any country except Turkey. They returned home and not long afterwards some Arabian brigands fired upon their party, wounding several servants and killing Emmanuel's father.

So long as his father, the patriarch the high priest, the master of the tribe, lived, Emmanuel of course, must do his bidding. After he was dead the desire to see something of the world of which he had had a glimpse, was so strong that he took his flock to Baghdad and sold them and with his train of servants, he went to Jerusalem and then to Constantinople.

It is just as though someone had stepped out of the days of the patriarchs of the Bible to modern life. His hair grew to his waist, because they believe if they cut their hair, their strength would depart from them.

He rode in his first train, saw the first telephone, his first street car and thousands of other objects which he had never seen or heard of but which have become common to the people of the rest of the world. He went to Petrograd, then London, afterwards Canada, and the United States. Returning to Europe, he found that he could not get home on account of the war, so then came back to America.

During these five years he has studied at McGill University, the University of Toronto and Oxford University in England. In London he made a translation of certain Apocryphal works of the Bible for Queen Mary, and received her thanks therefor.

Emmanuel is cultured, refined and educated, writes Mr. Horner. He speaks many languages including Arabian, Turkish and many other of the Oriental tongues, and Russian, French and English of the modern languages.

Emmanuel is an extremely interesting, well informed and sincere young man, who will never make a bad display of temperament but who is genuinely sincere to impart some of the things he knows in return for that which he has learned.

At the close of his lecture tour he is going back to his native country if the fortunes of war will permit him to escape there. If any of his people have escaped massacre, which he very much doubts, he wants to tell them of some of the blessings of civilization.

OUR LINE OF DEFENSE

It is a moment of tense nerves—ready to slip out of the trench at the word of command—and at the enemy. Our men on the firing line are physically fit for military service because only about one man out of five was chosen to endure the hardships of this fearful war. But we must not be content with 20 per cent. in physical health of our American youth.

We cannot afford to lose four men out of five because of physical weakness. Such weakness can be cured. Many times the kidneys are to blame.

If the kidneys are clogged with toxic poisons you suffer from stiffness in the knees in the morning on arising, your joints seem "rusty," you may have rheumatic pains, pain in the back, stiff neck, headaches, sometimes swollen feet, or neuralgic pains—all due to uric acid or toxic poisons stored in the blood and which should be swept out.

Then procure at your nearest drug store Anurie (double strength). The cost is 60 cents. This An-u-ric drives the uric acid out. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anurie three times a day for a month.

DAWSON, TEXAS.—"For the benefit of others, I gladly give this statement regarding the merits of Dr. Pierce's Anurie Tablets. Am nearly 70 years of age. I suffered from backache, weak kidneys, and could not control the kidneys. I can safely say that 'Anurie,' the new discovery of Dr. Pierce, has done me more real good than anything I have ever taken for these ailments."—Mrs. H. M. FLETCHER.

QUAY, OHIO.—"My bowels were constipated, fluids were stiff, ankles and feet swollen, and I had pain in hips and knees. I realized that I had uric acid in the system and sent for a trial package of Anurie. I then got three or four packages of the Anurie Tablets and also started taking the 'Pleasant Taste' regularly. Now I am free from pain, the joints have limbered up, and I am enjoying very good health. For so old and decrepit a man of age 70."—ELEANOR BROWN.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard
